Goose And Duck Seasons Will Open Dec. 1; Rules Unchanged

A goose hunting season underway from last year and a duck season against the same except that only one mallard per day or two in possession
have been granted Kentucky hunters by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and the U.S. Bureau of Sports Fishing and Wildlife. Minor check amendments at the Department announced today.

For the first time, hunting from seasons and seasons including the first day have been granted
the duck hunters with a bag limit of four and a possession limit of eight. The season will open on December 1 and continue through January 9. While the duck season may be harvested per day with a possession limit of eight after the first day
the daily limit may include not more than one mallard, one pintail, two canvasbacks, two goldeneyes, four black ducks or four redheads. The possession limit may not include more than two canvasbacks, two goldeneyes, two mallards, two pintails, two black ducks or two redheads.

The U.S. Bureau of Wildlife Management announced that the season will not begin until December 1.

Wheelwright Stops M.C. Napier 14-0

In the opening game of the 1965 Football Season the Wheelwright Trojans upended the M. C.
Napier Navajos 14-0 on a muddy and sloppy field
Saturday night at Wheelwright.

Wheelwright took the home
kickoff and went to work
as Willie Watson, the star
that set Napier down a yard and ran to the 20 yard line for a first down.

Trojan tackle Larry Brown was caught deep in the backfield by Napier's Ken Finnison and thrown for a loss
on the next play.

Using the tricky reverse play
Watson again setup a first down from the Napier 16.

From the Trojan offense
Watson hit Paul Hall with a 16
yard pass to give the Trojan Countdown a 7-0 lead at the first period.

On Napier's first play from scrimmage Jim McAlarnis got outside the end for a 41 yard touchdown but a Napier guard had jumped offside to nullify
the score.

Wheelwright got their first touchdown in the second quarter as Watson on the drive for the play, covered 35 yards for the count 14-0.

Napier put their offense on offensive drive as McAlarnis cracked the end for the Trojan line for 16 yards for a first down on the Wheelwright 30.

George Ballard, Trojan star or line in the Trojan line for 8 yards and a first down on the Trojan line for 16 yards
for a first down on the Wheelwright 30.

McAlarnis, Runs

JIM McALARNIS, senior for the Navajos, running at a full back slot cracked the middle of the Wheelwright line for several good gains during Saturday's contest.

Three Lettermen

The three lettermen on the Napier Football Team that were in the starting lineup for last Saturday's game are shown here. In the middle is junior tackle Ken Finnison who plays the left tackle slot. Finnison has drawn praise from his coaches in early going.

Halfback George Ballard who is co-captain with Jim McAlarnis gives the Navajos one of their fastest backfields in quite some time.

Napier Boosters

To Meet Tomorrow

Napier coach Charles Hall has called for a meeting of all people interested in supporting the Navajos this year by joining the
M. C. Napier Booster's Club.

The meeting is set for 7:00
p. m. tomorrow night in the Napier Athletic Building.

An election of new officers for the coming year will be held.

Everyone is urged to attend
this very important meeting.

Minimum Wage

To Start Sept. 3

A minimum wage of $1.25 an hour under the Fair Labor Standards Act will go into effect September 3rd for those employees who were made subject to the Act by the 1961 amendments.

This reminder was issued today by Pat Melan Regional Director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions. The agency which administers this Federal law.

Melan also said that these workers would be entitled to one and one-half times their regular rate of pay after 40 hours a week beginning September 3rd. Their maximum workweek for overtime purposes
has been 42 hours since September 1st.

These changes made and 29.5 cents per hour increase by the Act subject to the same standards, Melan added.

The Fair Labor Standards Act
applies to employers engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for interstate commerce and to employees of certain large enterprises so engaged. In addition to the maximum wage and overtime provisions, the Act also contains standards for the employment of children and requires equal pay for equal work for both men and women.

Airman Gay has been designated and duty as a transportation specialist at Altus AFB, Oklahoma. He becomes a member of the Strategic Air Command which keeps the free world's mightiest missile and bomber forces ready to counter the enemy threat.

Letter From Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

Mrs. Cooper Discusses Viet Nam Crisis

July and August are usually my favorite months in Washington. Most people have gone away on vacations and only the hard core of working wives stay on through the summer.

Washington has been particularly beautiful this year with its lovely weather, avenues of cool green trees and parks in full flower, but this summer is not happy one. Viet Nam is in everyone's thoughts and in every conversation.

Today, for instance, Mrs. Robert McNamara, wife of the secretary of Defense, and one of the most intelligent and compassionate women that I know, and I walked down the block to Mrs. Averell Harriman's house for a swim.

Mrs. Harriman and I just got ten back last night from the journey that took with her husband all through Europe where Mrs. Harriman was having talks with government leaders about the crisis in Asia. It was an exhausting journey, because in leaving Moscow they stopped in Brussels, Bonn, Munich and Rome, all in two days, before going on to Yugoslavia.

Sometimes, people question me in terms, but to me the usefulness of these government missions, but to me the answer is in Winston Churchill's words, "I prefer jaw, jaw in war, war." President Johnson's speech clarified our government's position to me when he said that although we were not going to abandon our allies, or escalate the fighting, we were also ready to negotiate for an honorable peace settlement with anyone at any time.

My husband has told me that it is in accord with our tradition, our concepts of morality to make every effort to reach honorable and just agreements. But if these efforts fail, he is sure the Congress and the people of our country will stand together as they do now, supporting the President of the United States, ready to defend anywhere at whatever cost our security and our freedom from all our resources and courage.

My niece's friends are boys now serving as reserves and others who are still in school and subject to the draft, and as they are the people who will be doing the fighting, the whole situation has become more personal. Their opinions vary.

Some are war hawks and some are more doubtful and questioning. It is difficult to understand how Vietnam affects our national security. But even those who are questioning don't advocate our pulling out. As one boy said, "If we do not honor our obligations now why should we be expected to honor them later?" No country can keep its good name or balance of power if it does not keep its word to its allies.

From my experience in Asia, I learned that normally wise people who have never been there apparently believe that Asian problems can be judged by western standards. This is not true. East Asia is an immensely complicated region whose history is altogether different from ours and immeasurably longer. China's expansionism has gone on for thousands of years and if allowed to continue would swallow the rest of Asia including India and spread like a flame from the Indian Ocean up through the African continent.

Our allies, the Japanese, the Filipinos, the Thais and the Australians, would be outflanked. And if the United States had to pull back to Hawaii, it would mean the loss of our historic American position as a major Pacific power. I think more and more people are beginning to realize this.

Indiana Man Hired As County Poverty War Director

Kenneth St. Clair, a trained urban planner from Columbus, Indiana has been hired by the Perry County Advisory Committee as Director of the County's anti-poverty program.

He was chosen from six applicants recommended to PCAC by the Council of Southern Mountains at Berea, which maintains a "talent bank" to help find qualified people for such jobs in Appalachia.

St. Clair graduated from Michigan State University in 1956 with a bachelor's degree in urban planning. Since then he has worked as a planner for small cities, including a period with Fort Walton Beach, Florida where he conducted a land-use survey to find areas for new housing and industry.

The new Director was in Hazard Monday for an interview with a PCAC screening committee. He has returned to Indiana to attend to personal affairs, and will report to Berea September 11 for a week of special instruction in his new job.

He will begin his duties in Perry County September 20 directing the local war on poverty from offices above City Hall on High Street.

His office will be the local action-arm of the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington.

Part of his job will be to direct the preparation of programs, initiated by various local communities, that will help to change the poverty-breeding environment and cut off what has come to be called "the cycle of poverty."

Assisting St. Clair will be Assistant Director Ken Cobb, a Hazard resident hired by PCAC last week, secretary Barbara Combs, a local girl who graduated from the ranks of the Neighborhood Youth Corps to become the full-time secretary on St. Clair's staff; and one or more programming aides yet to be selected.

In addition to this full-time staff, St. Clair will have the continuing advice and recommendations of the Advisory Committee, which is made up of a cross-section of Perry County citizens.

PCAC is the agency which received a $25,000 grant from OEO several weeks ago to finance the hiring of the staff and its operational expenses for nine months.

The program is not expected to expire then. PCAC will in the coming months apply for another grant to finance continuation of the program here.

The Office of Economic Opportunity has recently been voted greatly increased funds with which to expand the poverty war all over America.

The poverty war has several fronts here in Perry County. Two VISTA volunteers are at work in the Leathewood and Vista areas.

Over 200 young men and women are employed at $1.25 an hour in the Neighborhood Youth Corps out of school program.

Another 450 Perry County students may find regular part-time work at $1.25 an hour if NYC in-school programs submitted by city and county school systems meet with federal approval.

Though separate applications for in-school NYC were sent in from the city and county school systems, an agreement was made at a recent meeting to place all Perry County NYC projects under the administrative control of the local central NYC office, headed by Percy Combs.

Combs said yesterday the out-of-school NYC will lose about 30 workers who will return to school this fall, but that the vacant jobs will be quickly filled from a waiting list of some 60 boys and girls.

A few NYC workers have already graduated to permanent jobs in local offices and businesses.

Combs said he had received requests from some local businesses to be on the lookout for qualified workers.

He also said that several young NYC workers have taken examinations for Civil Service employment.

Perry County's new Director of the anti-poverty program, Kenneth St. Clair, left, talks with PCAC leader Ray Livingston.

Forty Golfers Expected Here For Tourney

Men of the Hazard Golf Club are playing qualifying rounds for their club tournament slated for action this weekend on the local links. F. M. Medaris, the defending champion, will try to retain the crown he won in last year's action.

About 40 golfers are expected to compete in the 2-day meet featuring 36 holes of medal play. The participants will play 18 holes Saturday, followed by the roundup, 18 on Sunday.

Only the defending champion is not required to qualify for the championship flight, which is expected to have not less than 12 players. Their scores will doubtless register in the mid-sixties to the low seventies on the 18 holes of qualifying play. Par for the course is 18. Among those vying for Medaris' crown will doubtless be young Speckie Cornett, winner of the club's recent invitational tourney during the 4th of July weekend. His immediate predecessor, 18 year old Kenny Tate, is also expected to snag a place in the top flight.

Several other former champions or near-greats are almost a dead cinch for the championship flight. These include Max "Buddy" Barret, Lowell Speck Cornett, Frank C. Medaris, Dee Hatfield, Gallie Collins, Curt Duff, Jack Duff, Bill Melton and others.

The weekend's festivities will get under way Friday night with a potluck dinner prepared by the Ladies of the Club.

Miss Jean McIntosh, ladies' president, said today that telephone committees are making an effort to call every member of her organization. Those not contacted via phone are urged to bring a pot and join the fun anyway, stated the president. It's never possible to reach everyone.

Looking For A Bowl

HAZARD'S PROBABLE STARTING LINE-UP . . . is show here while preparing for the big game with dangerous Hopkinsville Saturday night at Mt. Sterling in the Recreation Bowl. With Astor "Cat" Sizemore beginning his first season as head mentor at Hazard and a veteran line. The Bulldogs may be on their way to a very successful season. Standing left to right are: Keith Reynolds, Bervin "Chief" Collins, Houston Hogg, and David Baker.

Jim Bailey Fights Government In Effort To Get New Bridge

It's not often that an individual will start a personal war against the state and federal governments but Jim Bailey, owner of Bailey's Tire Service and Restaurant in Wabaco, is staging a real hot one in an effort to get the bridge on KY. 15 at the mouth of Lotts Creek either remodeled or rebuilt.

Bailey has written countless letters to state and federal senators and representatives.

About the only thing that has come from the state level is that there is no money to do such a project.

Bailey contends that money in the Appalachian Bill covers such improvements. The questionable bridge spans the North Fork of the Kentucky River near the M. C. Napier High School.

Each morning and afternoon when school buses are plentiful around the school and built some 30 years ago.

Other organizations favoring the drive include P.C.D.A. Kiwanis Club, The Hazard City Commission, the Hazard JC's and the Combs Family Association.

In a recent letter to Mr. Bailey State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward stated that a new bridge would be desirable but there was no money available.

State officials claim that the leg of the Mountain Parkway will ease the traffic situation on KY. 15.

Bailey says there are 52 small businesses between the old bridge and the new highway construction.

KY. 15 would still have to be used heavily by persons traveling from Pike Floyd, Knott and lower Perry Counties into Hazard.

Bailey says a new bridge would be desirable in the event someone needed to get to the Appalachian Hospital in a hurry.

When asked how long he would continue his fight Bailey answered, "I never quit anything I start."

The fight to get a new or better bridge is in its fourth month and is gaining supporters every day for the already large throng of backers.

Discount Deadline Nears On Taxes

The City Manager's office has announced that property owners in Hazard may until September 1 to take advantage of the two per cent discount on 1965 city taxes.

Hazard JC's Get Awards

Two Hazard Jaycees have received awards at the state board of directors meeting held last weekend at the new City Hall in Paducah.

Harold Hudson, national JC director, and Charles "Jitter" Fouts, a state vice-president, were the winners of the Blue Chip Chapter Award given to the club that excels in management and development.

The local club was one of 40 represented at the annual meeting.

The winter meeting is scheduled to be held in February at Ashland.

Hoover Haynes, president of the local club, was presented with the awards at a regular meeting of the JC's last night.

The organization voted to accept the longtime nickname of the JC's as their official title, replacing the one of Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce.

According to Fouts, "There is no connection what so ever with the K. C. of C."

The local organization now has a membership of 67 for this year.

Buckhorn Forms Rescue Squad

Fifteen citizens from the Buckhorn Area formed a rescue unit, Wednesday night, August 25th. This unit will be under the direction of the Captain of the Perry County Rescue Squad.

The following officers were elected: 1st Lt. John Bowling; 2nd Lt. John Brown; Sgt. Dan Amis, Secretary Carl Howarth; Treasurer, Bill Campbell; and Chaplain, Bob Undercuffler.

Captain Jerry Feltner, Commanding the Perry County Rescue Squad will direct the training and operations of the new unit. A rescue boat fully equipped, a portable generator and a Carry-All vehicle, will be placed at Buckhorn in the near future and an ambulance and a fire fighting unit will be put in Buckhorn. Water rescue and recovery training will start immediately.

The Buckhorn Unit will hold a fund raising road-block on Saturday, September 4th. This is a non-profit and volunteer organization and needs the monetary support of every citizen of Perry County.

Ben Combs Urges Truck Laws Enforced

Perry County's law enforcement officials have received a letter from Commissioner Ben M. Combs asking their support in enforcing truck weight limits on public roads and pledging his Department "to do what it can to stop the illegal operation of commercial vehicles on the highways, on Lost Creek Road, and on other roads in your county."

Addressed to County Judge Babe Noplis but with copies sent to Sheriff Charlie Combs, County Attorney Calvin Manis and Commonwealth Attorney Tolbert Combs, Commissioner Combs' letter of August 17 was in response to a petition, the second this summer, from 127 people in the Lost Creek area alleging that because of truck damage to their roads, "our children can't get to school because the road is so bad; we can't get to church or to a doctor."

Commissioner Combs wrote: "The Law Enforcement Division of this department is very serious about its responsibility, along with the responsibility of all other law enforcement officers in our state to enforce the weight laws of loaded vehicles on our highways. After the recent publicity concerning another protest received from residents of your county we were hoping that something might be done to decrease the destruction of the public roads by coal trucks in your community. I am advised that the last citations in your court were continued and filed away."

"Our Law Enforcement Division is going to do what it can to stop the illegal operation of commercial vehicles on the highways, on Lost Creek Road, and on other roads in your county."

A copy of this letter is being sent to the Sheriff, the County Attorney, the Commonwealth Attorney, and the Department of Public Safety in the hopes that they will give this department their support and advice in carrying out our

Three Hospitalized In Car Wreck Near Bulan

The crash of a 1963 model convertible near Bulan last night has sent three of the four occupants to the Hazard Appalachian Hospital.

The auto, driven by Merida Jones 21, of Bulan, was traveling West on KY 1146, when it went out of control and slid across the road over a steep embankment resting on its top.

Jones, Giles Bowling, 22, and Aster Caudill, 18, all of Bulan were taken to the hospital where they are listed in fair condition.

Another passenger Larry Jones, 16, of Bulan was not injured.

Strippers Ask Relief On Regulations But Breathitt Is Firm

Hearing Continued Until October 4; Pickets For And Against Stripping Show Up At Capitol Building Wednesday

Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt listened to spokesmen representing more than 2,000 strip-mine workers yesterday at the state capital then told the group that he would face his responsibility squarely to preserve Kentucky's natural resource for the future generations.

The strip-mine workers met with Breathitt only one hour before a scheduled public hearing on strip-mining with the Strip Mining and Reclamation Commission at the Old Capital Annex in Frankfort.

Telling Breathitt that the strip-mine workers in Eastern Kentucky numbered 8,000, Hazard attorney J. W. Craft, Jr., explained to the Governor that the livelihood of some 54,000 people is at stake in one small area.

Hazard's James Teague said that he owned two trucks and represented owners of 1,183 trucks who had originally planned to march on the State Capital with their tandems before the Governor asked them to leave the trucks home because of a possible major traffic jam.

The Strip Mining and Reclamation Commission met shortly thereafter in the hearing room of the Public Hearing Commission to conduct a public hearing on the proposed Reclamation Plan drawn up by the State Department of Natural Resources.

The meeting was originally planned for the spacious auditorium in the State Health Department building but was changed for some unknown reason at the last minute without any notice to the Appalachian Group to Save the Land and People, an organization formed to fight strip-mining in Eastern Kentucky. The hearing room in the Public Hearing Commission department seats exactly 40 spectators while the Health Department seats some 500.

Members of the Appalachian Group to Save the Land and People began showing up early at the State Health building and by 8:00 a.m. more than 100 were at the building.

Some twenty persons were picketing the building then moved on to the Old Capital Annex when word was received that the meeting had been changed.

One poster being carried by an anti strip-miner said: "Strip mining claims all property rights - let them pay all property taxes." Others said: "If in need of silt dam expert, contact ROY MULLINS." "What are our rights as citizens? We no longer have property rights!" and "We pay reclamation officials to give strippers the right to bury us."

During the public hearing Deputy Commissioner Robert Montgomery of the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources stated that the distinct purpose of the new act is found in KRS 350.090. "All measures shall be taken to eliminate damages to the public and adjacent property owners from soil erosion, water pollution and hazards dangerous to life and property."

Mr. Montgomery also said, "I think we have made progress in our reclamation program and after a little over one year since the 1964 amendments, I am convinced that we have learned much. However, I am also convinced that the present regulations need strengthening to bring about compliance with the law."

The meeting concluded late in the afternoon after five men had testified in behalf of the State for the new Reclamation Plan before a packed room of some 75 persons.

Sam McElroy of Morganfield, Kentucky, vice-president of the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts, urged adoption of the regulations as "a great step forward" in reducing soil erosion, depression areas holding acid water, and problems caused by mosquitoes.

The meeting closed after Logan Patterson, a Pineville attorney representing the group of lawyers for the strip-mine operators, requested a postponement from J. David Francis, the presiding chairman who was appointed by Gov. Breathitt.

The coal operators' reason for postponement was that the lawyers representing the coal operators wanted more time for investigation and evidence to argue their side.

Only the men testifying for the State took the stand during yesterday's hearing as the coal operators' counsel cross-examined only one witness but reserved the right to call any or all of the witnesses back to the stand.

Mr. Francis granted the postponement and set the new hearing for 9 a.m. October 4.
